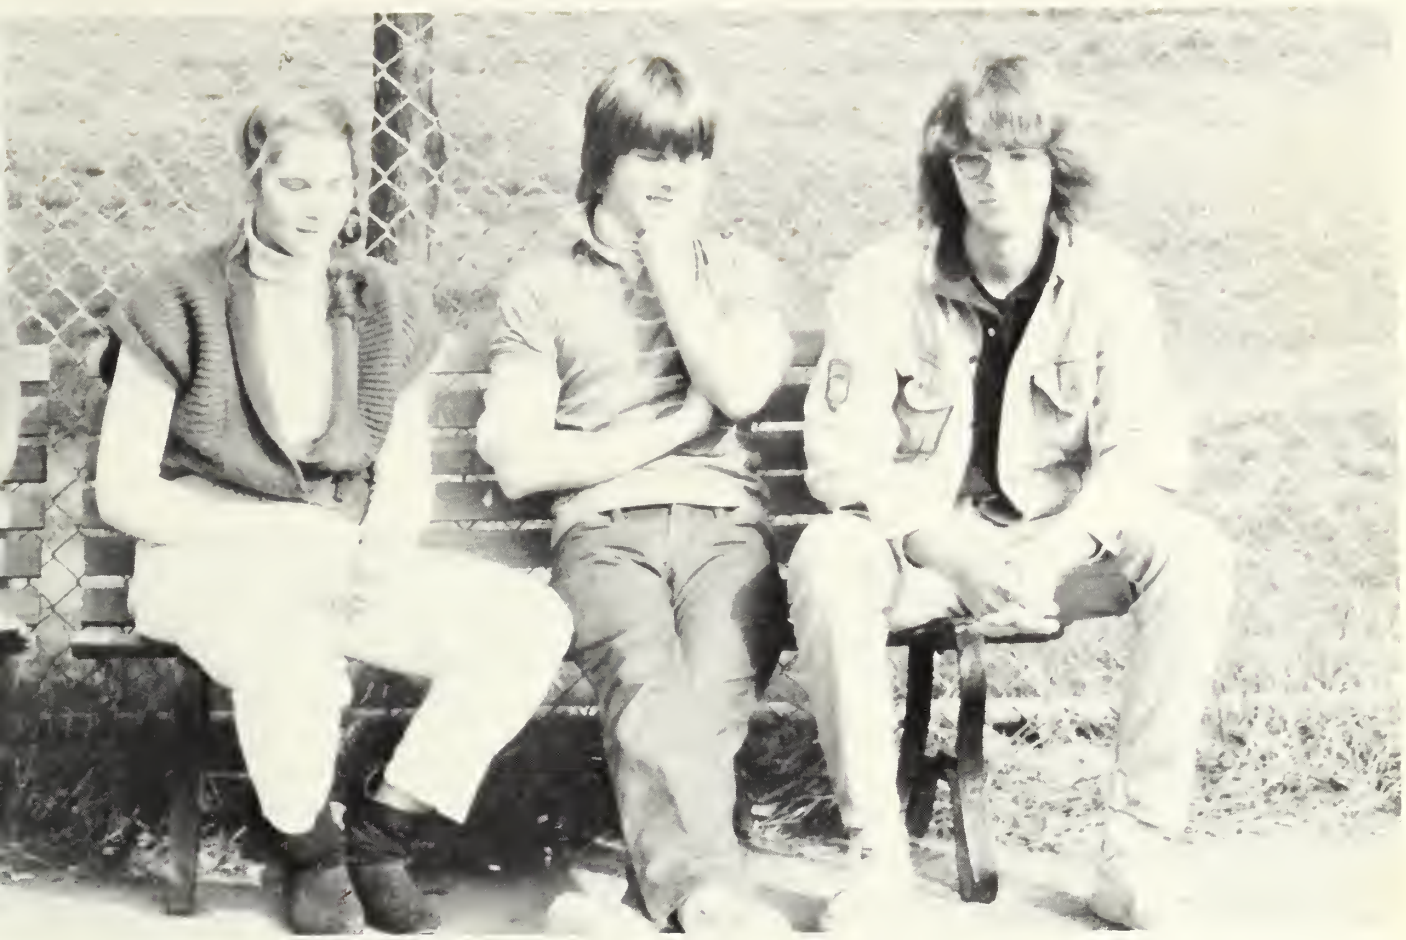
ANCHOR '86

Manchester High School

In Memory Of Ian MacDonald

Goodbye to you, our trusted friend.
We've known each other since we were nine or ten.
Together we climbed hills and trees,
Learned of love and ABC's,
Skinned our hearts and skinned our knees.



Watching through the looking glass,
And the hands on the clock go round.
It's hard to keep your head in place,
And still leave your feet on the ground.
Only the future can say,
What will happen to us all.
We can't just choose the good times,
We have to take them all.
The parties and the good times,
And the bad times all roll on.
Then someone plays a record,
With those old remembered songs.
We bow our heads in silence,
To remember a long lost friend.
A death that cut us all,
With a wound that will not mend.
We all reacted differently,
Some were silent, some did cry,
But we all had our own special way
Of telling you . . . Goodbye.

And they call this a senior picture

FREEBIRD

If I leave here tomorrow, would you still remember me?
For I must be traveling on now.
'Cause there's too many places I've to see.
But if I stayed here with you,
Things just couldn't be the same.
'Cause I'm as free as a bird now,
And this bird you cannot change.
Lord knows I can't change.

GO PLACIDLY AMID THE NOISE AND the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. + Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirt. If you compare yourself with others you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. + Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals, and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. + Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, graceFully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatique and loneliness. + Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. + Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. + With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy.

To The Class Of 1986

In the short time I have been here, I have come to know that a class that appeared to me to be perfectly regular is truly haunted by an unfortunate history. I find it hard to imagine the power of the events that created this feeling. It is something like a curse in a Greek tragedy when the evil of some is inevitably passed on to the innocent. In Greek tragedies the characters are often spiritually changed through their struggle. They become more humane. Perhaps this is why your class appears to be closer and more unified than classes in my limited memory. Perhaps you have gained some of the wisdom that the ancient Greeks believed came only through suffering.

If I am correct about all of this, you have a head-start on many other senior classes. My prediction is that you will become more successful than anyone would imagine. This will happen because of the wisdom gained from your struggles and the freedom you will gain when the curse is lifted upon graduation. You should look forward to your reunions in 10 or 20 years. You will be impressed with yourselves.

William L Izzi, Principal
